HESA

Weekly update

Introduction

Welcome to the HESA weekly update: we have condensed all appropriate operational emails sent to HESA IDS contacts into a weekly digest spanning all collections. We will send the weekly update every Thursday.

The HESA weekly update is available to anybody interested in HESA data collection news and updates. You can opt in to receive the newsletter via our sign-up form and you can change your preferences at any time. You can also use the form to opt in and receive the email every week as an operational contact, whether your record is included or not.

C18071 reminder for cohort C approval deadline

We'd like to remind providers that the deadline for approving contact details for cohort C is Friday 22 May 2020. This needs to be completed in the provider portal and the user guide details how to approve your records.

A reminder email will be sent to contacts shortly.

This will also remind English FECs of an important change to the contact details approval process from C19071. This change advises providers to use the upcoming cohorts of C18071 (as relevant) to ensure the contact details approval process is understood and can be actioned from C19071.

Student

The validation kit has been updated in line with the C19051 coding manual version 1.3 schema update:

- Seven quality rules have been added or amended in this release.
- The Entry Profile report has been updated for 2019/20 and is now available on the Data Collection system.

For more information, please see the release history in the C19051 support guides.

Student Alternative

The validation kit has been updated in line with the C19054 coding manual version 1.2 schema update:

- Eleven quality rules have been added or amended in this release.

For more information, please see the release history in the C19054 support guides.

Open data

Open data publication of environmental information from the Estates Management record is now available. This includes buildings and grounds, renewable energy generation, water consumption, emissions, waste, recycling, transport, and environmental management.
