

King's Careers & Employability, King's College London

Graduate Outcomes Survey Alumni core messaging

For more information, please contact Dr Kate Daubney, Head of King's Careers & Employability, kate.daubney@kcl.ac.uk

14 MONTHS: Using HESA Promo 4 graphic

Hello from King's!

Just a quick reminder that the Higher Education Statistics Agency will be in touch very soon to ask you to complete the Graduate Outcomes Survey either online or by phone. Every graduate in the country is asked to complete this survey which is designed to find out what work or further study you have gone on to do since you finished your degree at King's. That information really helps current students understand the wide range of different futures they might have. And here at King's Careers & Employability, we also want to know how useful you found your degree in the plans you are putting into action now, so please do complete the survey either online or by phone. All the information you give us helps us:

- Learn more about how your degree is useful in your future choices
- Inform current and prospective students about the wide range of work and study activities our graduates go on to do
- Improve the way that King's delivers an academic experience that also has value after your studies have finished

So do please share your stories. We really want to know what you are up to! And remember, you can still access services from King's Careers & Employability for up to two years after your course ends. We will be here if you need us!

And if you want us to use a different set of contact details for you, you can also send us your contact details directly through this link.